The worst journey I ever had was when I flew to New York last year. I arrived at the terminal in plenty of time, but when I got to the check-in desk, there was an enormous queue. By the time it was my turn, there was no window left, so I had to sit in the middle of a row. The man at the desk didn't seem to like the photo in my passport, but in the end he let me through. My suitcase was confiscated during the security check. My suitcase was called as soon as I arrived at the departure lounge, and I had to run to reach the gate in time. I sat next to a small child who screamed loudly when we took off. The weather in New York was terrible when we arrived and I've never experienced such a scary flight. I was so relieved when we finally touched the ground. The worst thing was that when I went to reclaim my suitcase, I was told that my suitcase had been left behind. I spent my first two days in New York with no clothes!
